Market Review (Third Quarter 2025)

GLOBAL ECONOMY

In the third quarter of 2025, global central banks maintained supportive monetary policies to cushion slowing growth. The U.S. Federal Reserve cut its benchmark rate by 25 basis points to 4.25%, signaling a policy shift from fighting inflation to stimulating economic activity. Similarly, the Bank of England reduced its policy rate to 4.00% to support growth, though inflation remained elevated at 3.8%. The Euro Area experienced a sharp slowdown, with GDP expanding by only 0.1%, while inflation ticked up to 2.2%, prompting the European Central Bank (ECB) to hold rates steady at 2.15%.

In China, subdued demand and falling food prices led to a 0.4% decline in inflation, while quarterly GDP growth eased to 1.1%. In response, authorities implemented rate cuts and liquidity measures to stabilize economic momentum and restore confidence.

LOCAL ECONOMY

Nigeria's economic indicators were mostly positive in the third quarter as inflation eased further to 20.12% in August 2025 from 22.22% in June 2025. The Naira exhibited stability, trading at \(\mathbf{1}\),475.00/\$ in the Nigerian Autonomous Foreign Exchange Market (NAFEM) and \(\mathbf{1}\),485.00/\$ in the parallel market. This stability was bolstered by robust demand from local and foreign investors and increased currency sales by the Central Bank. Consequently, the Monetary Policy Committee reduced the Monetary Policy Rate (MPR) to 27.00% from 27.50%.

The equity market remained resilient in Q3 2025, buoyed by renewed investor confidence in ongoing policy reforms and optimism surrounding corporate earnings growth. The NGX All-Share Index advanced by 18.95% during the quarter, bringing its year-to-date return to 38.65%. Notably, the NGX Lotus Islamic Index outperformed the broader market, gaining 28.48% in Q3, which lifted its year-to-date return to 70.47%.

Fund Performance

In the third quarter of 2025, the Halal Investment Fund gained 11.88% in the quarter to close with a Net Asset Value of N2.93/unit. This positive performance was driven by gains from equity investments and profit on asset backed transactions.

|             | Q3 2025 | Q2'2025 | Q1'2025 | Inception to Date |
|-------------|---------|---------|---------|-------------------|
| Fund Return | 11.88%  | 11.20%  | 3.06%   | 284.12%           |
| Benchmark   | 17.85%  | 18.37%  | 6.22%   | -                 |

Fund Outlook

In the upcoming quarter, the Fund will maintain an active position in the equities market in anticipation of a year-end rally. It also plans to increase exposure to long-dated, higher-yielding, asset-backed instruments, which are expected to outperform as fixed income yields trend lower. We expect that this will enable the Fund to extend its positive outing.

Note: Investing in Shariah-compliant products involves risk as the value of investments may rise and fall depending on the performance of the underlying assets. Past performance does not guarantee future performance.
